Fire ants look very much like ordinary house or garden ants. They are small and of varying size. Sometimes they build a mound, sometimes they don't. Even if you don't see them you may still have them. Unless disturbed, fire ants stay underground during the heat of the day and come out to forage at night. Fire ants are sensitive to vibration or movement and tend to sting and bite when the object they are on moves. Sadly, fire ants are here to stay and will return. The best protection from fire ant is regular annual treatments.

EverGreen Lawn Care is certified in the treatment of fireants and we guarantee our work. Don't let fire ants ruin your summer, call today for a free fire ant inspection guaranteed service estimate.
